Let's not say goodbye
because goodbye
sounds too final,
as if we were
closing the door
on all we've shared,
on each other.
So let's not say goodbye, Let's leave a woudow open
in our hearts
and in our lives
for the someday
when the time may be right to say hello again.

A gone shipmate, like any other man, is gone for ever: and never met one of them again. But at times the spring-flood memory sets with force up the dark River of the Nine Bends. Then on the waters of the forlorn stream drifts a ship-a shadowy ship manned by a crew of Shades. They pass and make a sign, in a shadowy hail. Haven't we, together and upon the immortal sea, wrung out a meaning from our sinful lives? Good-bye, brothers! You were a good crowd. As good a crowd as ever fisted with wild cries the beating canvas of a heavy fore-sail; or tossing aloft, invisible in the night, gave back yell for yell westerly gale.
